Now that peace has at last reached our shores, we, the Class of '46, wish to show our appreciation by dedicating our Arrowhead to James Plummer and all the men and women who served in the armed forces.

*Best wishes to you

To the Seniors:

This graduation closes victoriously one chapter in the book of your life. Some pages are tear-stained, others wrinkled with laughter, a few black with failures and disappointments, and many glittering with success. This 12-year period is ended. Nothing written therein can be erased or changed. Do you realize how the pages read has been determined by what you've done?

Your class motto, "The road of life is like a Yo-Yo—it goes up and down," shows you are aware of what the future will be as based on your past experiences. Benefit by these. The pages of time are awaiting your next inscriptions. Your successful start and innate ability, combined with fixed determination to succeed, can make your next chapter studded with great accomplishments. The possibility is there; the actual achievement is up to you. Follow each "down" with a more outstanding, worthwhile "up."

CLASS POEM

By DORIS HALLAJIAN

What lies ahead down yonder road of life?
What meets our eyes as wondering we gaze?
What pitfalls lie beyond—what human strife?
Whose eyes can penetrate the mist and haze
That hides from men the future laid before?
Whose mind perceives the workings of his might
That helps each humble soul for ever more?
How can we brave the future—see the light?

Lift up your heads and search the heavens above,
And see! The skies shall fill with brilliant rays,
Symbolic of the very hopes we love—
A guiding light to aid us on our ways
And we will climb each hill, each towering wall,
Until we reach that goal desired by all.

CLASS HISTORY

In September of 1940 the class of "46" (now with some additions) entered the seventh grade of the junior high school. With the aid of Mr. Timothy Higgins, who was in charge of our home room, we became acquainted with the new rules and the new way in which our school day was to be conducted. We quickly learned how to march along the corridors between classes, and we will admit that some of us closely resembled tin soldiers. Going into new classrooms for another class which was conducted by a different teacher was all new to us. Miss Winifred B. Andrews must certainly be credited with her ability to discipline ambitious pupils and to have all homework passed in on the day it was due. We elected officers but our activities as a class that year were few as we were just beginners.

We tried to put our famous "strike" into effect in 1941 and this will surely occupy our memories for a long time. The "strike," as it was called, involved all of the girls in our class who decided that they had been working too hard in a certain study period. (Their attempts to carry out a long "strike" failed.)

Miss Andrews, who was in charge of our home room while we were freshmen, prepared us for our senior high school life. We received our diplomas without ceremony and became sophomores.

Our class could now hold dances so that we could save enough money for future activities. We had a wonderful time at our outing at Revere with Miss Boutillette and Mr. Smith, our chaperones. That year Ernest Swanson and Edward O'Mahony became members of the basketball team. Our class officers were as follows: president, Kenneth Miller; vice president, Joan Reed; secretary, Gloria Harris; and treasurer, Thomas Lusk.

During our junior year everyone was looking forward to the date of our graduation. Lillian Kelly succeeded in being on the first team of girls' basketball, and was very successful. This year Joan Reed became the second girl in our class to be on the girls' basketball team.

We celebrated the closing of that year by a trip to Nantasket with Mr. Mead and Miss Chiesa chaperoning. Our class officers were: president, Donald Croteau; vice president, Harry Peterson; secretary, Audrey Crockett; and treasurer, William Sheerin.

The last year of our school days is now coming to a close. Our officers during our senior year are: president, Harry Peterson; vice president, Joan Reed; secretary, Audrey Crockett; and treasurer, Irving McLaughlin.

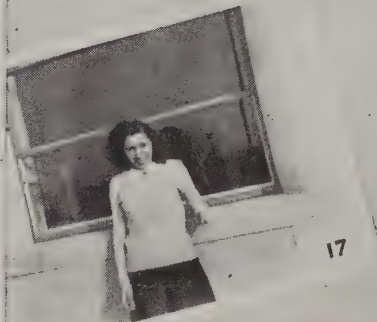

Two new students came to our school in the eleventh grade, Helen Seminatore and Irving McLaughlin.

We all hope that we will be as successful in the future as we have been in the past.

1. H. Peterson; 2. I. Fontaine; 3. E. O'Mahony and W. Sheerin; 4. Senior Girls and Mr. Dergay; 5. R. Govoni; 6. E. Swanson; 7. W. Sheerin; 8. A. Crockett; 9. I. McLaughlin; 10. L. Kelly; 11. C. Robinson; 12. I. Fontaine.

13. R. MacKenzie; 14. Mr. Dergay; 15. B. Cooke, J. Reed and G. Harris; 16. R. Govoni; 17. D. Hallajian; 18. B. Cooke; 19. H. Seminatore.

DO YOU REMEMBER?

When we had Miss Andrews for a home room teacher in the ninth grade after having been accused of marking desks?

Irene and Lillian in the rented bathing suits at Nantasket??!!

When we had 30 members in our class?

History classes with Mr. Mead?

The way we agreed on subjects in class meetings?

Our successful semi-formals?

When we went on our outing to Revere Beach in our sophomore year?

Our big time of the freshman year—an outing at Johnson's Grove?

Our change of class advisors during this past year?

Miss Burke presenting us with a review of Charles Dickens' works?

The three different teachers who helped us with the year book?

Irving McLaughlin's life in the city of Boston, and his slaughtering of the English language?

Mr. Dergay and his long stay with us (one week)?

Billy Sheerin's argumentative powers?

The arguments we had in English class?

When our teachers classified us as the best class in school?

The boys going on strike for the want of sports?

The girls going on strike for the want of home economics?

The days in 102 when Mr. Lawry used to see the fly on the telephone pole down on the State road?

When Lillian and Joan wouldn't shoot for a basket until everybody was at least three feet away?

When Miss Andrews used to say, "Shut up!" or "I'll snatch you bald-headed!" "Let's talk turkey," and "You're like a chicken jumping around on a hot rock?"

Our interesting classes with Mr. Dickerman?

CLASS PROPHECY

We will now take a trip in our time machine to the year 1966. In this way we will get a look into the future and see where we will be 20 years from now.

Arriving at Burlington we find that the town has greatly progressed and the widely known Mardi Gras is now going on. The first thing that catches our eye is a circus. As it is not yet time for the performance to begin, we decide to visit the sideshow.

The "Fat Lady" turns out to be none other than Ruth MacKenzie, now Mrs. Irving McLaughlin. Irving is working right at her side as the famous "Thin Man." Of course, this is just a sideline with him. His real work is that of professor of English at Burlington University. From Irving we learn that "Roddy" Russell is also a professor at Burlington University. His specialty is Mathematics. Irving gives us information on where to find some other of our classmates and we go on our way.

As we scuff along down Main Street our eyes nearly leave us at the sight coming toward us. Before we know it, Joan Reed stands before us and we can hardly believe our eyes. Joan is the most changed one of our group that we have seen yet. She is now a business executive and really looks the part. Her hair is parted in the middle and combed into a pug. Her clothes are strictly business suits, and she never goes out to have any fun. She wants her employees to be afraid of her so she can't show them that she likes a good time. Because of her great dislike for men, her employees are all women.

We learn of our one disappointment from Joan. We will be unable to see three of our classmates. Lillian Kelly and Irene Fontaine, following their great devotion and interest in history, have become archaeologists and are now visiting the Egyptian tombs. Accompanying them is their favorite teacher, Mr. Meade. The other classmate is Ernest Swanson. "Ernie" has fulfilled his lifelong ambition of becoming a hermit. Because he is a woman-hater, "Ernie" only comes out to the annual bachelors party, held at Burlington University.

Rita Govoni is the next classmate to catch our eye. We find that she has married her childhood sweetheart, Russell Morrison, and they are very happy with two sets of twins. Russell has followed in his father's footsteps and is a member of the school board. Rita informs us that Doris Hallajian is now living next door to her and is also happily married. Doris is now a very quiet person and gives in to her husband's every wish.

Kenneth Miller has been serving in the Navy all of this time and has now returned home. "Ken" married a South Sea Islander and now has three little expert hula dancers in his home.

Suddenly we are startled by the sound of a fire siren. A fire engine comes racing down Main Street with Chief Thomas Lusk right behind it. "Tom" is a confirmed bachelor, although he is adored by all of the women.

Hurrying along behind the chief's car we find that the dog track is on fire. There we find the owner, Donald Croteau, wringing his hands for fear that everything is to be lost. However, under the capable direction of Chief Lusk only half of the buildings burn down!

After making sure that the fire is out, we turn away and decide to visit the high school. Upon entering we are greeted by the superintendent, who turns out to be none other than Cynthia Robinson. We enter the auditorium where we find the children assembled and waiting for the well-known poet of the day, William Sheerin, to begin his program.

Not being able to remain for the whole program, we do not get the chance to speak to "Billy." Instead, we hasten on to continue our exploring. As we come out of the school we notice a crowd assembled in the park. As we walk closer we see, to our great amazement, that the crowd is listening to a speech being made by Edward O'Mahony. "Eddie" is now one of the great orators of the day. "Eddie" is now campaigning for the Mayor.

The Mayor is none other than Bertram Malone. "Bert" is the best Mayor that Burlington has yet had. However, he always follows the old theory of kissing babies and passing out cigars to get votes.

"Bert" also proves to be a good source of information. From him we learn that "Killer" Peterson is in town. As soon as we gain this information, we rush over to the sparring gym. Here we find that Harry's manager is Audrey Crockett. Harry is not able to speak to us at first, as she is recovering from a blow he received while Audrey was showing him a new trick. She completely knocked the wind out of him.

Edward Lord is also a member of "Killer" Peterson's company. "Eddie" is an undertaker, and he feels that Harry is a good one to follow around as he gives him a lot of business. On the sideline "Eddie" is trying to promote a 20-mile-per-hour speed limit in Burlington and surrounding towns.

Leaving the gym, we walk right into Harry Nelson. Harry is now directing a "Gay Nineties Revue" and we walk over with him to the theatre to watch a rehearsal. Here we find Helen Seminatore, who is now known as Helena, billed as the star performer. Helena does most of the singing. She has so many fellows waiting for her at the stage door that we have to put up a good fight to get in.

In the first act we are surprised to find Barbara Cooke and Gloria Harris as the dancing team. After a long, hard struggle they have finally been able to leave the chorus and do their own specialty. Their routine is called "Pass the Biscuits, Mirandy" or "A Little Indigestion Won't Hurt Me Now."

As our time is now growing short we have to leave and wend our way back to our time machine. As long as we know what the future holds for us we are not afraid to face it. We know that we will have to work hard toward that future, but we will do our best to put Burlington "on the map."

CLASS WILLS

I, Barbara Cooke, leave to Jeanne Vigneau my ability to dance to any kind of music, including the music Mr. Gendron plays at lunchtime. I hope this will help you to prove to him that the two-step can be used for every type of music.

I, Audrey Crockett, leave my size 12 figure to any overstuffed Junior.

I, Donald Croteau, leave my nice wavy hair to Priscilla Chisolm. Now you won't have to put it up every night, Percy.

I, Irene Fontaine, leave my ability to get out of staying after school by very poor and slim excuses to Dexter Nelson. Maybe now, Dexter, you can get home at least once a month at two o'clock. Good luck.

I, Rita Govoni, leave to Theresa McLaughlin the ability to cope with one's brother. Confidentially, Theresa, I'd appreciate any advice you could give me.

I, Doris Hallajian, leave my keen sense of humor to any sober Junior. May he find life bearable.

I, Gloria Harris, leave to Mary De Mone my seat in the Student Council along with one piece of advice—watch to whom and to where you give passes.

I, Lillian Kelly, leave by the students' entrance and also leave my ability to have more fun than most people to Bob Piper. Hi, Beast.

I, Edward Lord, leave to Barbara Seminatore, my ability to invent. Be sure if you have an explosion that it is in the high school.

I, Thomas Lusk, leave my ability to curl my hair and have it come out in even waves to Ann Galipeau.

I, Ruth MacKenzie, leave to any six members of the Junior Class my six textbooks. Don't fight for them—it isn't worth it.

I, Bertram Malone, leave my former little black book, which contains some very interesting telephone numbers, to Raymond McLaren. Who knows? It may influence your whole life.

I, Irving McLaughlin, leave my ability to raise cane in any period Miss Burke has charge of, regardless of what she says, to George Neilson. Hope you do as well with it as I did.

I, Kenneth Miller, leave to Billy Waldrup my ability to pass the physical exam for the Navy. I hope you do as well as I did.

I, Russell Morrison, leave and bequeath all my earthly possessions namely six dead skunks and twelve traps to Robert Ray and Thomas Chaplin. I hope they can do as well as I did.

I, Harry Nelsen, leave to Joan Mason my quiet disposition. Maybe it will help you, Joan, in Mr. Lalli's study periods.

I, Edward O'Mahony, leave to Donald McLeod my ability to be calm, cool and collected under any circumstance. We really know he needs it.

I, Harry Peterson, leave my ability to fix flat tires and not get discouraged, to Kenneth Frado.

I, Joan Reed, leave to Marjorie Merrigan my ability to influence our cook into giving an extra helping.

I, Cynthia Robinson, leave my ability to meet strangers to the Junior girls with this warning: Be careful.

I, Helen Seminatore, leave to Eugene Knowles my "sunny disposition," knowing well that you know how to use it.

I, William Sheerin, to Bobby Ray give
My ability for poems to make.
In hopes that someday classmates will say
"Bob, this poem takes the cake."

I, Ernest Swanson, leave my seat in Public Speaking to any member of the Junior Class who sleeps last period.

CLASS SONG

By DORIS HALLAJIAN

The day has come when we must part
From all our friends so dear.
On life's long road we now must start,
The time is drawing near.
Now that we know it's time to leave,
Our hearts are heavy with regret;
But most of all you can believe,
This school, our friends, we'll ne'er forget.

CHORUS

Farewell, Oh, Burlington High,
Our days with you are gone.
But though we leave and say "goodbye,"
Sweet memories live on.

The girls' basketball team engaged a prominent and active season under the supervision of Miss Sally C. Bosketti.

The team engaged in spirited, well-matched contests and they upheld high and sportsmanlike standards.

The basketball games offered a startling series of nine hard-fought and honestly won victories and three losses.

The year's work culminated when the team again entered the Littleton High School Tournament on Monday, February 25, 1946, and lost to Groton, 23-25.

The 1946 schedule is as follows:

A number of boys reported for basketball this year, all willing to work their way to the top. Under the careful supervision of Coach Gendron the boys played marvelously, but won only a few games because the boys were all inexperienced.

The scores were as follows:

An enthusiastic squad of 22 boys reported to Coach Gendron March 18 for baseball. The weather permitted the team to practice early. The material comes from most of the lower classes and there are many promising candidates.

APPRECIATION

The Senior Class of the Burlington High School takes this opportunity to thank all those who have made it possible for us to publish this yearbook. We wish to make known our appreciation to all those who have been patrons and patronesses. Also we want to thank all of those who have put ads in our book. We sincerely hope your ad in our book will prove as helpful to you as it has been to us.

We wish to express special thanks to Miss G. R. Burke, Mr. Malcolm and Mr. Mead for the help they have given us in the organizing and assembling of our book for publication. Without their welcomed help it would have been impossible for us to publish the "Arrowhead" of 1946.
